Mr. Smith
AJSmith@fcps.edu

Andrew Smith is originally from upstate New York, where he completed his undergraduate degree in general and special education at SUNY Geneseo. He moved to Fairfax County in 2001 to teach an inclusive second-grade class at Braddock Elementary. After two years, he continued his teaching in special education while completing his Master's degree in New Professional Studies in Education at George Mason University. Mr. Smith later earned another Master's degree from GMU in Educational Leadership while serving as special education teacher and department chairperson.